1.3.45

a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant

Theodore Cottingham, March 11, 2005, Tape 118_5, 11:00 p.m.

www.unc.bz

1. I give you Me and I give you all of Me, eyes wide open, with your eyes My eyes, our eyes wide open. I love you looking at what is ahead, forward, backward and through time. I love you and I give you Me; I give you all of Me. And I thank you for letting Me speak, thank you for a letting Me talk, thank you for communing with Me, communicating My communings.

2. I love you, Ted, I love you. I hate not that which you have done or left undone, and leave all with Me, done and undone, and worry not about either. I love you. I please you more, watch Me. All comes into play from beginning to end, from throughout, within.

3. All I have said is true. Let Me not be replete without you; your words at My table, repleting so many, your many words, My many words, many more words waiting for release, to be spoken, to come into play and force be in what I enact, what I proclaim and declare this day.

4. It's all okay to move forward with My confidence, in My confidence, My confidence in you, your confidence in Me, our confidence in each other, one, one confidence. I love you. Significance coming and increasing, arising. Thank you.

5. Into Me see all I have done, all I am doing in these last few days, in these last hours; strengthening fortitude and tenacity of only Me, gauging nothing by monetary levels, gauging everything by Me, My word, the sweat of My brow not: My word, My intimacy chosen. I love you. Thank you. Be Me, roll forward unashamed, unabated, unscathed. Thank you.